1. On Sunday, we looked at the passage in Luke 23:34-43. Read that passage again. What does the above passage reveal about God? What does the above passage reveal about us?
2. One of the criminals “railed” at Jesus. Is anger something you wrestle with? What would those closest to you say?
3. The cross was a sign and symbol of failure and shame, yet it became a sign of victory for Christians. How have past failures or shame propelled you to achieve victory today?
4. The thief named his sin, named his brokenness, and asked boldly to be remembered. Have you?
5. Jesus tells a criminal, “You will be with me in paradise.” How does that help you in your everyday life?
6. Who are you praying for to hear those same words? What intentional action can you do this week to help open the door for a conversation with them about Jesus?
7. People are never more receptive to truth when there is a crisis. How can we be more sensitive to those around us who are going through difficult times? Are we praying for the right words to speak truth into those situations
